new conference year.
This victory was achieved through the generosity of the membership and the work of the loyal laymen participating in the annual Every Member Canvass. This program was practically completed before the recent meeting of the annual conference in Memphis. The Sunday sermon subject is "The Dew on the Fleece" recognizing these special accomplishments and victories of the church which evidence the reality of faith, love and hope within the body of Christ.
Following the sermon the pledges for the new year will be presented at the altar for dedication to Christ and His church.

Reidland Man Named Chairman Boy Scout 50th. Anniversary

The appointment of Jewell E. Holt of Reidland, Kentucky as chairman of the 50th anniversary committee of the Four Rivers Council, Boy Scouts of America was announced by James C. Riecke of Paducah, president of the council.

The Boy Scouts of America will celebrate its fiftieth birthday in 1960. By the close of next year it is estimated that 33,500,000 different persons will have been identified with the organization since its inception in 1910, Mr. Riecke said.

"Our program for youth," Mr. Riecke said, "has extended its influence throughout the length and breadth of our land. It can be found in our nation's most sparsely settled areas, as well as in the midst of our great cities. Over twelve million boys have learned to live in the outdoors, felt the thrill of adventure, learned how to survive and become self-reliant citizens of our great land."

The Boy Scouts of America has left a lasting impression on the life of our nation," Mr. Holt, the newly appointed chairman said. "Scouting has become a vital part of our American way of life. It merits the support and interest of every person, adult and boy alike, in celebrating this significant achievement for the youth of our land. We feel this anniversary must mark the beginning of a more aggressive effort to continue the program in its high efficient state and to reach the increasing number of boys who will be available due to our great population growth."

Mr. Holt's committee will encourage participation in all phases of the national program, develop suitable local programs and encourage unit and individual participation in all golden anniversary activities.

Rape Trial Is Nearing End In Florida

By JACK V. FOX

United Press International
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The trial of four white youths accused of raping a teen-aged Negro ended today. Two defendants testified the charged freely. One said that if girl had resisted "I would not have done it."

This statement by Patrick Scarborough, a 21-year-old airman, brought a murmur of anger from Negroes in the segregated courtroom gallery. The 19-year-old girl had identified Scarborough earlier as the one who carried a shotgun the night of the attack.

Prosecutor William D. Hopkins asked the state's case against the four youths Friday night after introducing in evidence confessions that each had assaulted the girl.

It was expected the all-male, all-white jury would get the case by late today.

Defense Motion Denied
The maximum penalty, should the jury convict without a recommendation of mercy, is death by the electric chair. Hopkins said he would not decide whether to ask the death sentence until he makes his closing statement to the jury.

Circuit Judge W. May Walker denied a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal, and defense lawyers put two of the four defendants on the stand before the trial recessed last night.

Both Scarborough and David Beagles, 18, a high school student who was treasurer of his Sunday school class, testified the girl consented "freely and voluntarily" to sexual intercourse. The other defendants are Ollie Stoutamire, 16, and Wilton Collinsworth, 24, the only one of the four who is married.

Neither Stoutamire nor Collinsworth took the stand last night, but character witnesses were presented in their behalf.

Cried After Testifying
Beagles' mother, Mrs. Edna Beagles, told the jury that "David has always been a good boy, and he has never given me any trouble."

She burst into tears when she resumed her seat in the packed courtroom.

The state charges the four white boys forced the Negroes out of the car at the point of a shotgun, forced the two Negro boys to kneel, and ordered the one girl into their car. The other girl ran.

The girl, whose name cannot be published under Florida law, said they drove her to a wooded area and raped her seven times.

"Goes To Sleep" In Refrigerator

BOSTON — (UPI) — A little girl told today how another child "took off her clothes and went to sleep" in a disconnected refrigerator which trapped them in the kitchen of their home.

The sleeping child died. The other was revived after prolonged artificial respiration.

Christine Ann MacFarlin, 8, survivor of the tragedy, said she and her cousin, June Marie MacFarlin, 7, crawled into the 11 cubic foot refrigerator "to see how it would feel."

The door slammed shut. "It got awfully hot," Christine said. "We took off our clothes to cool off. Pretty soon June went to sleep. June's sister, Karen, 6, found them when she heard Christine rapping rapidly on the door.

Christine slumped into unconsciousness as the door opened but revived within a half hour. All efforts to revive June failed.

The refrigerator had been left standing open in the kitchen with all the shelves removed, in preparation for moving to a new apartment today.

Government Debt Near 285 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States will owe its creditors most of them its own citizens — an estimated 285 billion dollars on June 30.

President Eisenhower asked Congress this week to approve a four-year recommendation designed to provide a "better structure" for this debt and to "safeguard the public credit," he proposed that:

— The 41-year-old ceiling of 4 1/2 per cent on interest for long-term government bonds be abolished to make the debentures more attractive to investors.

— The permanent limit on the national debt be increased from 283 billion dollars to 288 billion.

— The temporary lid on the debt be raised from 288 billion dollars to 295 billion.

— The 3 1/2 per cent interest ceiling on government savings bonds, owned by millions of Americans, be lifted so the treasury could pay 3 7/8 per cent.

The proposal of the limit on long-term bond interest drew most of the initial criticism. Democrats said this would benefit big bankers. Republicans retorted that the steps were necessary because Democratic spending had put the country in financial hot water.

The House Ways and Means Committee began hearings on the recommendations immediately.

Other congressional news this week:

— Taxes: The House approved and sent to the Senate a one-year extension of the high Korean war taxes on cigarettes, beer, liquor, new cars and corporations.

— Rackets: The Senate Rackets Committee accused Metro Hokevachka, deputy prosecutor of Lake County, Ind., of being an operating part of the criminal syndicate which conducted vice and gambling in the county.

— Strauss: Foes and backers spoke spraculously on the appointment of Commerce Secretary Lewis L. Strauss. Following the Senate major speeches until the show-down was near. The vote was expected late next week at the earliest.

— Wheat: The House passed a Democratic bill designed to reduce the country's huge wheat surplus by raising price supports and curbing planting. Some 63 Democrats, most of them from big cities, joined Republicans in opposing the measure on the floor. The Senate approved a different wheat bill earlier. Senate-House conferees will try to work out a compromise. Eisenhower opposes both versions. Republicans warned of a possible veto.

— Dillon: The Senate confirmed C. Douglas Dillon to be undersecretary of state by a voice vote.

— Aid: The Senate Foreign Relations Committee wrote into Eisenhower's foreign aid program a requirement that the President report Congress next year a timetable for ending all outright aid grants. A decision on how much to cut the Chief Executive's $3,900,000,000 request was put off until next week. Chairman J. William Fulbright D-Ark. said there was much sentiment for a "severe" slash.

Long Will Fight For His Release

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — Louisiana Gov. Earl Long, who has never been known to pull his punches, prepared today for a vigorous fight against any attempt to have him declared insane.

He formally charged in a petition filed in District Court Friday that he was kidnapped from Louisiana. He said he was brought to Texas "red hand and foot" and that he is being illegally held in a mental hospital.

Mrs. Long was reported shocked at her husband's dramatic plea, but sympathetic.

The colorful Louisiana chief executive asked District Judge L. D. Goldard in a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to set him free. A hearing was set for 10 a. m. Monday, the day before a full-fledged hearing is set in Probate Court on a petition by Mrs. Long and the governor's cousin, Dr. Arthur Long Jr., to have him confined for another 90 days of psychiatric treatment.

Long signed his petition: "Earl Long, governor in exile by force in kidnaping."

Long, 63, was brought to Galveston in a National Guard plane May 2. After efforts by his wife, Blanche, to get him to submit to treatment voluntarily failed, she asked Probate Judge Hugh Gibson to order him confined.

Gibson did on grounds Long was "dangerous" to himself and others. But it was a temporary order, good for 14 days, and Gibson set next Tuesday as the date for a hearing on whether Long should be confined for 90 days.

The governor's petition was filed by Adrian S. Levy Jr., who is heading a team of four lawyers. Levy said Long would appear in court himself and testify that he was brought to Texas "forcibly, unwittingly and unwillingly."

Appointment Of Sanderlin May Be Argued In The Courts

FRANKFORT — (UPI) — The controversial appointment of J. R. Sanderlin of Shelby County to the State Fair Board probably will be argued in the courts following a cross-state debate between Gov. A. B. Chandler, the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation and Atty Gen. Jo M. Ferguson Friday.

Chandler named Sanderlin, a livestock farmer, to the Fair Board Wednesday after firing Smith Broadbent Jr., of Cadiz, president of the board and the representative of the Farm Bureau.

Chandler gave political infidelity as the chief reason for his dismissal of Broadbent. He referred to an incident in which he said Broadbent neglected to introduce Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield at a rally, instead introducing the unsuccessful gubernatorial candidate's wife.

The Farm Bureau executive committee, which met Friday at Louisville, telephoned the governor and asked him to rescind Sanderlin's appointment.

When the governor refused, the committee voted unanimously to ask Ferguson for legal assistance in having him removed. Earlier Ferguson's office had opined that the Sanderlin appointment was illegal and added it would test it in the courts if the Farm Bureau officials gave it the go ahead.

"The decision is now made. I'll try to take action as soon as I can," said Ferguson who added that he should have the case ready for filing either in Franklin or Jefferson circuit courts within a week or 10 days.

The Farm Bureau groups contends its representative to the board must be chosen from a list it submits to the governor. It says the governor chose Sanderlin without even consulting it.

In a statement issued following the committee meeting the three-man group pointed out that one of the avowed purposes of the State Fair Law is to provide for the "administration of the State Fair so that it would be free from political interference."

Sanderlin criticized the group's action as "making a mountain out of a molehill."

The Farm Bureau statement read in part: "In our opinion and in the opinion of our legal counsel, this appointment violates the letter and intent of the law. Accordingly we are requesting the attorney general of Kentucky for a written opinion on this issue, and if in his opinion, the law has been violated, we shall request that he act in behalf of the people of Kentucky, seeing to it that the law is carried out."

Frank Dibble Will Head Waterfowl

FRANKFORT — (UPI) — State Fish and Wildlife Resources Commissioner Minor Clark Friday appointed Fred Hardy, of Somerset, to the post of federal aid coordinator for the department and assistant director of the Division of game.

Hardy, now head of the Forest Game Research and Development Project, succeeds Don Strode, who has been employed as the director of fish and game for the island of Guam.

Clark also announced the consolidation of the department's various wildlife projects into four groups, each to be headed by a chief biologist. The reorganization becomes effective July 1.

The four major project groups and the biologists heading them are:

— Farm game development project — Dan Russell of Bowling Green.

— Forest game development — Harold Bausher of West Liberty.

— Waterfowl development — Frank Dibble of Murray and Jim Moynahan of Springfield.

Special problems research — Lee Nelson of Owensboro.

Moynahan will continue to serve as refuge manager at the Ballard County Waterfowl Management Area.

Bob Kessler, of Lebanon, will head the new pilot county planning program to test the effect of habitat improvement on game populations. The program will be conducted in Boyle County.

Aid Is Told On Balancing Of Budget

By GAY FAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Most breadwinners tear their hair out trying to balance the budget, says the latest guide to wise buying.

This is a masterpiece of understatement as all of us "breadwinners" know. But the new guide does offer 354 pages of practical assistance toward solvency.

One of the first chunks of advice in the "Kiplinger Family Buying Guide" published this week is:

"Don't be an impulse buyer."

Buying on the spur of the moment is one of the fastest ways to turn a "supposedly leakproof budget into a sieve," says the publication. "One expert says that people no longer make purchases. They make purchases." And yet, according to some market authorities, 70 per cent of all buying today is of the impulse variety, the book adds.

Soup To Nuts Guide
The book gives money-saving and what-to-look-for tips in purchase of everything from houses to hi-fi, from air conditioners to auto insurance, from power mowers to pianos. Missing unfortunately is a complete section on purchase of feminine apparel. But the part devoted to getting the most for your food dollar should help us all cut costs on the three squares.

"Always shop the grocery ads in Thursday's newspaper," says the book. "The main object in this is not so much to compare prices—which are apt to run pretty close—but to get an idea of what foods are good buys."

"Finally sit down and make a list of the staples you need plus a more flexible list of those items that will make up the menus. Flexible, because the foods that sound best when you read... may not turn out to be the bargains."

Buy By Calendar
"Buy food by the calendar and you are sure to come out dollars ahead. Food prices go through seasonal cycles and the highs and lows can be plotted by the calendar," it continues.

Seasonal good buys in most parts of the country in May, for instance, include asparagus, onions, lettuce, cabbage, spring greens, and strawberries. Department of Agriculture economists help here: They publish weekly a list of "plentiful" or good seasonal buys. Your newspaper can keep you posted on these.

Save money by buying in quantity, if you have a proper storage place and if the family likes what you're buying.

The book says the food freezer saves money if you buy in quantity when the prices are low, if you buy large cuts of meat, and if you cook for the future.

"Don't waste," says the guide. "It is said that the average family

Testing Poisons Against Cancer

DENVER (UPI)—Several hospitals across the country are testing a new medical technique for killing isolated cancers with poison.

The technique was described by Dr. J. J. Griffiths, Miami blood specialist, during a recent post-graduate course at the University of Colorado School of Medicine.

Griffiths described the method this way: If a cancer or tumor is located in a patient's arm or leg or an organ, and hasn't spread into the system, his blood can be routed around the cancer, which is then treated with a profusion of poisons which may kill the growth.

Backstairs At The Whitehouse

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Backstairs at the White House: Jim Hagerty, President Eisenhower's press secretary, may end up as a deep-dyed villain of this administration if he continues to attract the attention of passing magazine writers whose knowledge of the White House tends to be third or fourth hand.

Jim currently is a pretty dangerous fellow in Esquire Magazine. Esquire flogs old Jim with vigor, but its whip seems to break repeatedly. Without doubt, Hagerty has his faults and drawbacks but the magazine makes the whole thing a bit ridiculous by calling him "dangerous."

Hagerty may be annoying and, at times, officious, but hardly dangerous. There have been occasions when he threw all sorts of roadblocks between reporters and some fairly high members of the White House staff. But at heart, Jim knew tactics like this were bound to lose in the long run.

Esquire tells about "atop Washington analyst" presumably news and not psychiatrists who tried manfully for a month during the 1958 recession to get to see White House officials who were mapping the administration's economic moves. For fellow, according to the magazine, ran afoul of a black and evil wall of silence Hagerty threw around his staff.

This is in truth a sad tale. This "top analyst" must have been a real sufferer because during the recession, the key economic officials on the White House staff held literally hundreds of interviews and background briefings for reporters, who came in individually and in groups without so much as nodding to Hagerty.

Esquire claims its piece about Hagerty is the "top untold story out of Washington." It may be right.

For example, it rips aside the curtain of secrecy covering a clever Hagerty maneuver of keeping reporters around him happy by making sure "that typewriters and telephones are available" when the President is on the road.

We don't know how Esquire does it, but most professional are available through ASC office.

Farm Storage Is Expanded Through Loans

More than 10 million bushels of grain storage capacity was placed on the Nation's farms in the first quarter of 1959 as a result of the Department of Agriculture's storage facility loan program, according to Roy C. Gray, Chairman of the Kentucky State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office.

Storage facility loans totaling more than $2,000,000 were made during the January-March period to approximately 2,700 farmers, Mr. Gray said. In addition, 182 farmers borrowed a total of $200,000 to finance crop drying equipment for use in connection with storage facilities.

Loans for up to 80 percent of the cost of grain storage facilities are available through ASC office.

HEART STOPPED TWICE

UPPER MERIDEN, Conn. (UPI)—A 24-year-old Swedish factory worker's heart stopped twice during surgery for face and hand burns suffered in an explosion.

Both times, surgeons restarted the heart and continued the operation, without which the worker would have been disabled for life.

Colorado Has Uncommon Common

SAN LUIS, Colo. (UPI)—The town common was a familiar feature of communities 100 years ago, and it still exists here.

The San Luis common covers is situated alongside, not in, the town. Citizens still enjoy equal grazing rights on the land which cannot be taxed, sold or rented.

The common, or vega, was established when San Luis itself came into existence 100 years ago although the town was called Rio Culebra at the time and was a walled Mexican colony.

es to help farmers meet the needs for farm grain storage. Since this program began in 1949, the loans have been used to add 412 million bushels to the Nation's farm storage capacity and to install drying equipment valued at more than $5,000,000.

Miss Fredda Louise Shoemaker and Mr. Donald Frederick Buxton Are Married June 7 at the First Baptist Church

Mrs. Donald Frederick Buxton

In an afternoon ceremony held at the First Baptist church on June 7 at three o'clock, Miss Fredda Louise Shoemaker and Mr. Donald Frederick Buxton pledged their marriage vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Sadie Louise Shoemaker. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Frederick Buxton.

Dr. H. C. Chiles, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring service.

Miss Shoemaker, given in marriage by Mr. Alvin Dale Fischer of Columbus, Ind., was lovely in an Alfred Angelo original of white tulle and satin and tulle. The gown featured a chapel length train and tiered ruffled side panels scattered with sequins and pearls. Her scalloped neckline and long tapering sleeves ending in "v" points were highlights of the gown. The tight bodice was secured with miniature covered buttons. She wore the traditional "something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue". At her neck was a small pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom. Her bouquet was of white orchids and tube roses placed on a prayer book. The flowers were tied with white satin streamers in love knots. Her finger tip veil of French illusion was attached to a matching lace tulle. Mrs. Wayne Cole served as matron of honor. She was gown in a pale orchid and embroidered organza frock. She wore matching mits and cummerbund. The gown was designed with a square neckline ending in a "v" point in the back. The skirt was full and her brocade shoes were dyed to match. Mrs. Cole carried a colonial bouquet of large yellow Shasta daisies.

Misses Kay Ezell, Carmelita Talent and Jane Vaughn were bridesmaids. Their dresses were styled similar in design to Mrs. Cole's. Each bridesmaid's outfit featured a different color. Their bouquets were of contrasting shades of blue and yellow. The headpieces were made in a small hat-like fashion with extending circular veils.

Miss Kathy Converse, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Converse, acted as flower girl. Her frock was made of blue organza similar to the dresses of the other attendants. Her hair, fashioned into a ponytail, was highlighted with yellow tube roses tied in love knots.

Mr. Lawrence Buxton served as best man for his brother, Duane. Others were Messrs. Dan Shipley, Wayne Cole, John Koertner and Neal Sykes.

Special nuptial music was played during the ceremony by Miss Lillian Waters. Her selections were "Serenade", "Liebestraum", "O Promise Me", "A Perfect Love" and "Because". The traditional wedding marches were used. Vocalist was Mrs. John Bowker who sang "The Song of Ruth", "Will Walk With God". As the couple knelt, she sang "The Lord's Prayer". The church was decorated for the ceremony with a large white arch entwined with greenery. Baskets of ferns, peonies, and gladioli were placed on either side of the arch. Seven branched candelabras held burning white tapers in the background.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Shoemaker wore a powder blue lace dress with matching shoes and a small white hat. At her shoulder was pinned a purple orchid corsage.

Mrs. Buxton, mother of the groom, chose a navy crepe dress with a navy hat and matching shoes. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Mrs. Earvin Forrest, Murray and Mrs. Ella M. Buxton, Mansfield, Ohio, grandmothers of the bride and groom, wore corsages of white carnations.

Guests registered in the bride's book in the foyer of the church. A table covered with a white linen cloth and centered with a magnolia blossom arrangement held the book. Miss Shirley Chiles presided at the table.

The bride's table held a four tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom and decorated with tiny pale yellow and green roses. The cloth was of white imported cutwork. A white floral arrangement of snapdragons and peonies centered the table.

Special music was played by Miss Shirley Chiles during the reception. Mrs. Mary Shipley cut the cake while Miss Marion Shoemaker, cousin of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. Yellow punch, white minis and nuts were served.

Others assisting in serving and entertaining were Mrs. Buel Jettison, Mrs. Marie Talent, Miss Peggy Outland, Joretta Fox, Mary Furches and Shirley Chiles. Each wore a white feathered caudium corsage.

For traveling, Mrs. Buxton was attired in a white polished cotton suit with three-quarter length sleeves. Orchid lace decorated front of the outfit.

To complete her selection, she wore a small white lace hat, orchid gloves and white brocade shoes. At her shoulder was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Buxton left for a wedding trip to the Gulf of Mexico and points of interests in Florida.

The couple will reside in Murray until September 1. They plan to move to Auburn, Ala., where he will attend a school of veterinary medicine.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Dale Fischer and son Johnny, Mrs. Jess Fischer, Mrs. and Mrs. Alvin Lynsmith, all of Columbus, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Molting of Elizabethtown, Ind.; Mrs. Nell Shoemaker and daughter, Macilou of Bedford, Ind.; Mrs. Ella M. Buxton, Mr. Roy Buxton and Mr. Ray Buxton, all of Mansfield, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Helvis, Princeton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson, Princeton; Mrs. Marvin Ray, Mayfield; Lt. William Lusher, Jr., West Point, N. Y.; and Mrs. Olive Verhine, Central City.

Mrs. Buxton was graduated from Murray High School and will receive her BS degree in Business Education from Murray State College in August. She is a member of Alpha Sigma social sorority and the Business Club.

Mr. Buxton, a graduate of Murray High School, attended Murray State College for two years. He is a member of the Pershing Rifles Military honorary society and the MSC Drill Team.

Bridesmaids Party
Miss Fredda L. Shoemaker was hostess in her home, 1605 College Farm Road, at a party honoring her bridesmaids.

The main table was covered with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink and white peonies.

Mints, a party mixture, eckes, pickles and olives were served by Mrs. Sadie Shoemaker and Mrs. Madeline Talent.

Miss Shoemaker presented her attendants with sterling silver charm bracelets with their initials engraved on the date.

Attendants and their mothers attending the party were Miss Kay Ezell, Miss Carmelita Talent, Miss Jane Vaughn, Mrs. Wayne Cole, Miss Kathy Converse, Mesdames Talent, Robert Vaughn, Harold Ezell and J. M. Converse.

Rehearsal Dinner
Mr. and Mrs. Duane Buxton were hosts at the rehearsal dinner held in the private dining room at the Kentucky Colonial.

Covers were laid for Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Chiles, Miss Lillian Waters, Mr. and Mrs. Buxton, Mrs. Ella M. Buxton, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Dale Fischer, Mrs. Sadie Shoemaker, Miss Fredda Shoemaker and Mr. Don Buxton.

Mr. Buxton presented the best man and his groomsmen with silver cufflinks.

A NEW MYSTERY
THE COUNT OF 9 by A. A. FAIR

CHAPTER 26
 "MISTER LAM," said Mortimer, "you take a lot for granted."
 "In my business, sometimes you have to," I said.
 "Perhaps too much," he said.
 "What assurance do I have that you would play fair?"
 "In your presence, I would telephone Mrs. Crockett. I would tell her that I was telephoning from my apartment, that you had phoned me earlier in the afternoon, that I had gone to see you and that you had told me about having a Buddha which looked like the missing one of the pair; that you wanted her to come and view it, out that I had to intrude upon her sorrow."
 "Jasper looked at his watch. I looked at mine."
 "There is not much time," I said.
 "There is enough," he remarked.
 "I waited for him to go on. Abruptly he straightened. He said, 'You will write as I dictate.'"
 He handed me a pad of paper and a pen.
 "I want to know what you're going to dictate first," I said.
 He said, "You will write, 'Donald Lam, a duly licensed private detective, received a telephone call from Mortimer Jasper at two o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Jasper told me that he thought he had one of the missing idols from the Crockett collection; that he had bought it in good faith and that he had read with very great surprise the description of the jade Buddha which had been stolen from the Crockett collection.'"
 "I want to see Mortimer Jasper," I said.
 "He is an exact duplicate of the idol that was stolen, and Mr. Jasper turned it over to me, taking this written statement as a receipt and as evidence of his good faith. I am to return the idol to the owner."
 "Mr. Jasper told me that he had paid one thousand dollars for the idol and that he wanted to get his money back out of it, but, aside from that, he had no interest in any financial return of any sort."
 "I played it dumb. 'I can get you three thousand dollars,' I said."
 "Certainly," he told me. "You will get me three thousand dollars and perhaps more. But in the meantime I will have this written statement of yours for my protection. In the event anything goes wrong, I will use this written statement. I will use it unless it becomes necessary. 'You have come to me with a proposition that may be fishy. I don't know. You state that you are representing the estate. That much I do know because I read in the papers that your firm was called upon to guard the collection.'"
 "Now, my friend, as you have remarked, time is short and we either do business or we don't."
 "I'm not in this for my health," I said. "I get the thousand dollars."
 "Of course."
 "That must be in cash. This is a confidential transaction between the two of us."
 "It is a confidential transaction," he said.
 "But certainly," I assured him. "Start writing then," he told me.
 "You'll have to dictate it over," I said.
 He dictated it over and I read it, hesitated, then signed it.
 He opened the upper right-hand drawer in his desk, took out the jade Buddha, took a wallet from his pocket, counted out ten one-hundred-dollar bills and handed me both the jade Buddha and the money.
 I pocketed the money, took the jade Buddha, said, "There may not be much time. I want to get out ahead of the police."
 He escorted me to the door. He didn't offer to shake hands and I didn't offer to shake hands.
 I hurried across the sidewalk, jumped into the agency car, switched on the ignition and the headlights, jerked the lever of the transmission over into the driving position and was just starting from the curb when I felt the ominous, cold circle of steel in the back of my neck.
 "Take it easy, buddy," the voice said. "Drive around the corner to the right. Go two blocks. There's a vacant lot. Drive into that."
 I did some fast thinking. "Who are you?" I asked.
 "It doesn't make any difference."
 "What do you want?"
 "We'll tell you."
 "Cops?" I asked.
 "Don't ask questions. Just keep driving."
 I kept on driving, turned the car into the vacant lot, "Drive around the corner to the right and the switch," the voice said.
 I did so.
 "Now the lights."

Hawaii To Get New Cities And Resorts In Boom

By FREDERICK Y. SMITH
 United Press International
 HONOLULU — (UPI) — The taste of statehood has Hawaii drooling at the prospect of what it can do to its cities. Even creating new ones.

There is, for instance, Henry Kaiser's announcement that he will build a $300-million model city for 50,000 people at the southeastern tip of Oahu.

The project will have the aid and blessing of the Bishop Estate, one of the islands' largest landholders, and the entire development will cover 6,000 acres — will be on leased land.

To be called Hawaii-Kai, the city-to-be will — according to the plans — transform barren hills and swampy lowland into a vision of loveliness. The area will have "everything" — hotels, apartments, homes, service areas, plus a huge man-made beach and a sea-water lake that is currently a muddy fish-pond.

The James Campbell Estate, another big landholder, has already started building its own new city at the other end of the island of Oahu. Envisioned several years ago, the Campbell project got off the ground last year when Standard Oil of California announced it would put a $50-million refinery in the industrial park planned for the area.

Once Standard Oil was in, other firms began to lease property in the industrial tract. An assortment of heavy industries is now scheduled for the area, and around it are springing up the houses, the schools and the supermarkets that will serve the people who work in a section that was once a sugar cane field.

Land — any land — on Oahu is considered a gold-mine. Much of it is held in lease by the large estates, but some of it, like the site of the new Ala Moana Shopping Center, was created by the owners.

Ala Moana to islanders today means the biggest shopping center they've ever seen. Due to open in August, the $12-million center spreads itself over 50 acres of land patiently created with coral fill over the years by tycoon Walter Dillingham.

The shopping center is the king of Hawaii's shopping areas, but it is by no means the only one. With every new residential development, there are more stores on the land to serve the people. Economists predict that the construction industry may bring in a billion dollars by 1965.

Most of the building is in and around Honolulu on the island of Oahu. But the other islands are beginning to show signs of growth, too. One large island firm has announced plans for a luxury beach development on the island of Maui to rival famed Waikiki.

Only legal details are holding up the start of this project. Before long, $36 million will be poured into the area, which is expected to have 11 hotels. The name of the area is Kaaanapali. Remember it; someday it may be as famous as Waikiki.

The South Atlantic island of St. Helena, to which Napoleon was exiled, derives a large part of its income from the sale of postage stamps to collectors, even though it has no internal mail system.

Soldiers Home Safety Conscious

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — A safety program initiated in 1952 by the United States Soldiers Home has greatly reduced the number of accidents today for the "Old Soldiers" — may live longer and more safely.

The home, an institution for retired enlisted Army personnel, has a staff of 1,200 and some 2,000 residents.

Recently it received its third award in less than a year in recognition of a relentless campaign to eliminate all physical hazards that might cause accidents.

Aside from the Army's "Award of Merit," the home received the Merit for the year 1958 and the National Safety Council Award of Merit, "National Safety News," bestowed the same honor last summer.

The safety program was started by the Army's Corps of Engineers and followed up by the home's own medical staff. Ramps replaced stairs wherever possible and where steps could not be eliminated, handrails were installed.

Non-slipable fixtures have been placed on furniture and sharp corners are being removed from objects that might cause injury.

Outdoors, visiting motorists are made aware of the safety program through strictly enforced traffic rules on the 300-acre site.

An Army spokesman said recently: "There is no way to point out the true results of the years of planning and work there, except to point out that there are now men enjoying the benefits of retirement in the home who would be dead or hospitalized without such a program."

BETWEEN THE TILES
NEW YORK — Plastic cement is now available in a squeeze metal tube for filling and waterproofing the spaces between bathroom and kitchen tiles where the original cement has worn.

MISSILE MAIL ARRIVES—A parachute slows the 36-foot Regulus I guided missile for a safe landing with some 3,000 pieces of mail at the Naval Auxiliary Air station in Mayport, Fla. The mail was "sent" from a submarine a hundred miles out in Atlantic. The first time delivery took 22 minutes.

26 INJURED WHEN CAR CATAPULTS INTO CROWD—A speeding race car hurtled through the air and slammed upside down into a screaming crowd at St. Joseph, Mo., injuring 26 persons, including the 8-year-old son of the driver. At least 13 M. Nield, the driver, escaped injury. At top, spectators examine the wreckage of the racing car. At bottom, crowds are shown looking at wrecked stands of the Beverly Speedway.

The Happy Fisherman

There was a fellow at the plant who was always asking me to go with him to church.

In a way this picture portrays his soul. For there was something boyishly enthusiastic about his eagerness; something joyously genuine in his confidence.

And his fervor reminded me of the disciples of old who became "fishers of men."

Well, he brought my family to church. Not because he was a salesman or a saint. Simply because he encouraged us to seek the convictions he was so eager to share.

Betty and I, and little Ricky, really owe our cherished faith to the moment that fellow at the plant said, "I'LL STOP BY YOUR PLACE ON SUNDAY MORNING."

Now, we too, find happiness in bringing our friends and neighbors to church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL — ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a schoolhouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
